Category:Raster graphics editors Category:Windows graphics-related software Category:3D graphics softwareQ: Selected value of dropdownlist is the first value of list When I have a dropdownlist that has 3 options in it, Choose A Choose B Choose C The selected value will always be the first value in the list. Is there anyway to make the selected value to be the one I choose? A: You can make the first option be selected with: Choose A or use: Choose A Choose B Choose C Q: Extracting contiguous groups from list with list comprehension I have a list of lists which I am looking to extract contiguous sub-lists. A contiguous list is one where the elements are in sorted order. For example: >>> my_list = [1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 7, 6, 4, 3] >>> [my_list[i:i+3] for i in range(0, len(my_list), 3)] [[1, 2, 3], [5, 10, 7], [6, 4, 3]] Ideally, I'd like to have a one-liner which works in the general case: my_list = [1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 7, 6, 4, 3] [my_list[i:i+3] for i in range(0, len(my_list), 3)] ...which returns the following: [[1, 2, 3], [5, 10, 7], [6, 4, 3]] What's the best way to do this? A: This is a perfect application for itertools.groupby(): from itertools import groupby [list(g) for _ in groupby(my_list, lambda x: x)]
