A: If you know your bike is an original, there is not much else you can do to identify it. These are the only Diamondbacks I have seen with enough vintage patina that I can make a good ID from that. The font of BABY 001 is also very distinctive. Even if you didn't recognize that, you'd recognize the later BABY patterns (200, 300, etc) because they had different font. You could also ask at a local bike shop to see if they have one to loan you, but if you want something that's guaranteed to last a long time, this bike isn't it. As a note, the solenoid valve/barrel adjuster was a $10 upgrade for any new Diamondback. 2d92ce491b
