Macro Keys combine a keyboard's functional buttons with a mouse's clicker. The key on the side of the mouse (on the right when held in right-handed mode) allows you to issue a "macro" command. When you click the mouse button, you are actually issuing a predefined keyboard command. Programs like Microsoft Word or Excel have macro features that allow you to use a single keystroke to perform many functions. How to use macros in KMA: [?] Set up a macro key on your mouse. [?] Open any of the included programs. [?] Select any desired command in the programming window. [?] Hold down the "Macro" key, and the selected command will be performed when you click the mouse button. [?] Macro keys can be programmed on up to five mouse buttons. [?] Select a key on the left side of the mouse for the first macro key. [?] Select a key on the right side of the mouse for the second macro key. [?] Repeat steps 1-6 for any other desired macro keys. [?] All macros can be assigned to any number of mouse buttons. [?] Macro keys can be programmed on up to five mouse buttons. - - - -
