PHPRunner simplifies working with PHP applications by providing ready-made projects and templates that give you an opportunity to create data-driven websites that are both easier and faster. Provide ready-made templates PHPRunner provides you with a window where you can start creating a new project. The list of available templates allows you to choose from blank applications, or list of cars, classified info, events, jobs, knowledge bases, news and more. Next, you need to connect to a database, whether it is local or remote. A visual editor for your database Upon launching, you are greeted by a window where you can start creating your own project. The list of available templates allows you to choose from blank applications or a list of cars, classified info, events, jobs, knowledge bases, news and more. The next step is to connect to the desired database, whether it is local or remote. A list of all the tables is displayed on the left-side panel, which is also the place to access views, reports, charts and dashboards. The database editor allows you to work with the database using graphical elements rather than coding. For instance, adding new tables or configuring relationships between tables is a matter of pressing a few buttons. The visual editor helps you manage and sync your database, create new views, configure table fields and manipulate data in your database. On the other hand, PHPRunner does allow you to write SQL scripts manually and execute them. Create responsive data-driven PHP pages With PHPRunner, working with data-driven PHP pages becomes a matter of manipulating tables and views in a user-friendly visual editor. With preview functionality and FTP support, this application allows you to create custom designs based on ready-made templates. Furthermore, connecting your application to a database, performing database maintenance and synchronization are much easier tasks. Requirements: Windows Vista,

Windows Server 2008 Check out the screenshot below to see what PHPRunner looks like in action. A: I'm using XOOPS (I find it much more easy to use than Zope. It's also free and open source. XOOPS is very easy to get into, and you can easily find help for it on the web. Another great feature is that XOOPS is fast, unlike Zope. I have not had a chance to have a great Internet connection yet b7e8fdf5c8
