Other gameplay innovations introduced in FIFA 22 include dedicated button prompts to speed up on-ball decision making and new player controls to manipulate the ball as it moves around the pitch. The "Player Instincts" system helps players make more intelligent decision-making choices during crucial moments. Official launch trailer Dynamic Player Behavior Dynamic behavior is the cornerstone of FIFA Ultimate Team™, and it goes deeper in FIFA 22 with new Player Instincts, Player Vision and Player Control. When you're controlling a player, you'll have access to a breadth of behaviors you've never seen before. The player's personality will come alive on the pitch, allowing you to perfect your game and enjoy every touch of the ball. Player Instincts FIFA 22 introduces a brand new player system that builds on the successful innovations introduced in FIFA Ultimate Team™, allowing you to get inside the mind of your players and improve your game by reacting to their actions on the pitch. Every player has unique traits that will change depending on the context in which they're playing - how high up the field they are, in possession of the ball or in a tackle. With these new insights, you'll be able to make more intelligent decision-making choices, run at your opponents more effectively and match better with teammates. Player Vision When you're controlling a player, you'll also have access to a whole new range of eye-based movement controls, allowing you to manipulate the ball in new ways. Some of the eye-based controls include new Trajectory

Motion, used to dictate the position of the ball in flight and allow players to make more precise passes. While Trajectory Motion is used to dictate the trajectory of the ball as it flies through the air and over the pitch, Player Vision helps you play the ball by helping you choose between different options to get the ball to your teammates. Player Controls Players will also have access to more advanced on-ball controls, including Flicker, which allows players to play the ball before it goes towards the goal, and Dynamic Dribbling, which triggers realistic acceleration and deceleration when players move their feet to change direction. Developed in partnership with a series of leading sports science partners, these new controls will help you better manage the ball and react to the game at an incredibly high level. Free Kick Thru
